The sudden death of Elisabeth Young-Bruehl on December 1st, 2011 at age 65, near her home in Toronto, has saddened us all immensely. Young-Bruehl was a philosopher, biographer, psychoanalyst and prolific writer. Her work has been enormously influential, touching many lives and shaping the disciplines she worked in.

In January, 2012 her long-awaited book Childism was published. This December 1st we will honour this great work, while remembering Elisabeth with the help of five accomplished panelists: Alison Bechdel, Dominique Browning, Raffi Cavoukian, Donna Orange, and Heather Weir.

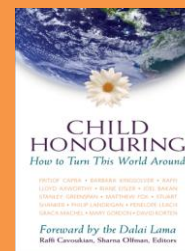

Alison Bechdel

Author of Are You My Mother? and Fun Home

Dominique Browning

Slow Love Life and Moms Clean Air Force

Raffi Cavoukian

Centre for Child Honouring

Donna Orange

Author of The Suffering Stranger and Thinking for Clinicians

Heather Weir

Child and Adolescent Psychiatrist and Psychoanalyst
